SMITH PARIS, ME., FRIDAY.

urges very strongly, is that every teacher do all in her power to hasten the day when the writing of compositions shall have ceased to be such a burden to scholars, but shall rather be a source of enjoyment. When a child is taught to express his thoughts on paper as soon as he is taught to read, one of the first steps are being taken to secure this end.

It is really surprising to find how much more difficult most persons find it to express their thoughts on paper than to do so verbally. Some of our most brilliant compositors begin their letters, "Dear friend, I now send myself," &c., and end (on the first page) "can't think of any more to write."

This grave fault causes common sense to groan in spirit, and prompts every energetic teacher to strive to reduce the burden of letter-writing to a pleasurable exercise, to be enjoyed as much as a conversation with a friend or a serious friend. Much can be done to secure this end in the primary and grammar schools.

It is not persons think that as a natural result of a young lady's becoming a teacher, she will grow stern, sedate, and thoroughly disagreeable, and common sense tells that the true teacher must be happy, and that while imparting knowledge she should still be all the time adding to her own.

I like to compare the teacher to a stalactite, whose formation is called the stalactite, because the scholar to whom she imparts all she knows how the stalactite is formed by the water, holding line in solution and dripping from the cave, and the stalactite grows larger and larger, all the time accumulating material to form the stalactite. The scholar equals the water, and the teacher together, until at last they unite and form one massive column.

Most of the teacher, while building up the mind of the scholar to the level of her own, still be growing intellectually, and even at last, when the mind of the scholar equals the level of the teacher in rank, the growth need not stop, but the two grow up together, remembering that the higher they both may climb, there is still an inaccessible."

These are only a few of many valuable suggestions prompted by common sense, but every teacher needs to follow these and many more, by this sense, aided by reason and judgment, and to give every scholar the power to improve our common school system.

I think that I express the sentiment of my class when I say, that we do not want any teacher to strive to remedy some of the evils which common sense deplores, but, at the same time we will remember the words of the scholar equals the teacher.

"We have not wings, we cannot soar,
But we have feet to staid and climb;
And we have hands to grasp the world,
The cloudy summit of our time."

California Letter.

Livingstone, Merced Co., Cal., April 10, 1884.

OXFORD CO. ADVERTISER.—In my first I told you it was getting dry. Now I can tell you we have had lots of rain, and with favorable weather will have a good crop, even if we do not get another sprinkle. I have been to Stanislaus County since I last wrote and have seen many more fine fields. I saw a few of the best wheat crops in the State looking as well here as any I saw while away.

Roses are in full bloom now, and we have many more varieties here than in the east.

And so "Speckled Mountain" wants to know if you have seen any of the old Christmas we had between three and four hundred acres up, and it has been coming ever since then. Our latest crop of wheat is the best I have ever seen.

We have a small patch of rye, fifty acres or so, so soon for hay that stands just even with the top of the early snow, and in thirty years of the early snow wheat for three weeks or more, so cannot tell you how high it is.

And how would we play with snow three feet deep? We should not attempt it, but, rye around until we should be a warrior cavalier. We spent the winter of 1882-3 in Stanislaus County, and got along very well if the winters are cold and the snow deep and in the future.

The ADVERTISER of March 27 just came, and of course we stopped to read it, and we found it very interesting and "rhymes." "Porter," your rhymes are getting to be world renowned, and we are sure to hear of them all over the place. You are a stranger to many. We don't employ ourselves, only see it done, and the sleigh ride we can't have, so will have to do without it.

O. P. Wakefield and Wm. Greys left for Friday for San Francisco to get a new lot of goods for the store, as good as represented, they will buy.

We had quite an earthquake the 3d of last week, and it was very strong, and felt them here on the plains, although they are so common on the coast.

Warm weather, or rather hot will soon be here, and then you Maine people will have the best of us. The first I spent in this valley (San Joaquin) I thought you were there, although I frequently said I'd much rather live in a cold climate, for with wood or coal one could keep warm, and I could see no way to get rid of the heat. The climate at the West does not vary very much from the climate of the East, necessary for us to be here during the hot months. As I mean to write often I must not take too much room, so "Bon Soir."

Yours truly,
H. ROYCE.

DEAR MR.—Your newsy and interesting letter of Nov. 18th was received yesterday, also one from F. of the 14th, and I thought I'd like to answer your letter. We were very glad to hear you were all well. You can hardly imagine the grand time we are having in Rome. The weather is just perfection and everyone seems to have recovered from the cholera scare, so there is much life and gaiety on the streets and in the Park. In fact I have seen no more of the cholera since I left the American Hotel, even on Fifth Avenue than I see here, on a pleasant afternoon in the Pincio (park of Mt. Pincio) or on the Corso

This image is a vertical, high-contrast, black and white scan of a textured surface, likely a book cover or endpaper. A prominent, dark, irregular vertical band runs down the center, contrasting sharply with the lighter, speckled background. The left edge shows a rough, possibly metallic or leather-like binding. The overall texture is grainy and aged.

General Grant's condition has very much improved.

The ice has carried away several houses and places at Canton and down much damage.

Charles P. Kimball, of Chicago, formerly of Norway, has been appointed Consul at Stuttgart, Germany.

F. D. Welcome of Poland, sends us a nicely printed and illustrated price list on bees. This paper contains some interesting reading. Mr. Welcome proposes to issue it yearly.

Giles O. Bailey, of the Portland Sunday Times and with have returned from Florida. Mr. Bailey's health is greatly benefited. Mrs. Bailey is a sister of Mrs. A. S. Kimball, of Norway.

Dr. O. Stanfield, a native of Poland died recently of apoplexy. Mr. M. Stanfield of Victoria Hotel, New York, is the son of the late Dr. O. Stanfield.

A son of Daniel Dudley, who lives Mechanic Falls, tried to dig out a person, and when he exploded and blew off a thumb and injured a leg, so that he will be cut off at the first joint.

Mr. Mend of Bridgton who has his fine oil paintings on exhibition in the Maine Department at New Orleans Exposition, has sold two of them to a Cincinnati gentleman.

Our Prize Letter's are the pleasing thing with the children just now. We receive a number every day. That is right, children, send them in. They will all be printed in time, a half dozen or more every week.

Will the little girl at South Paris, who wrote "Prize Letter No. 117" please send her name. Unfortunately some of the letters got destroyed last week after they were "set up."

The drama, "My Brother's Keeper," will be presented by the Oxford Dramatic Club at School House Hall, Oxford, Saturday evening the 25th. This is for the benefit of the Oxford Brass Band that will be in audience. Admission 25 cents, children 10 cents.

Mr. W. French who was run over while hauling timber to Jones McAllister's mill a short time since is better, and able to sit up most of the time.

George Farnum of Norway, is to work for P. F. Dresser the coming season.

George Abbott works for Mrs. Smart of Sweden.

George Recker has hired his son Irving to take charge of the home farm this summer.

Albert Jordan has sold four of his oxen, and has another pair left to do his work with.

Amos Hutchinson has sold his large oxen to W. F. Green, of North Waterford. There are several more pairs of oxen for sale in this vicinity.

Merrill Savin went to a party last week, and says that he shall not go to any more.

Several flocks of wild geese have passed over this section on their way to the "dikes."

John F. Lord has a nice driving horse for sale.

P. F. Dresser is School Agent in District Number 2. School begins the first Monday in May.

David Jordan I understand will not move back to his farm this summer. Spring pigs are scarce and bring $3.50 a piece.

Quite an amount of poplar will be peeled in this section this season.

John Savin is at work for Mrs. G. W. French.

Freeman Bennett while working in A. S. Bean's mill, was thrown by the circular saw inflicting a severe wound in the leg.

Charles Westcott, with his family, has returned to Linden, Maine, and has returned with his former employer in a Boston oil store.

Walter Brown sold his personal property at auction last week. It is reported that he is soon to go to Illinois to settle, where he has two brothers.

Frank Richardson is sick with a severe cold, which prevents him, for the present, from visiting his parents, who reside in Canton, his mother being in feeble health.

At the School meeting in District Number 1, Dexter A. Cummings, chosen Agent. The board of the school was held off by Wallace Kimball, was chosen Agent. Mr. A. J. Mearns, has been engaged to teach the summer term. Mr. Albert Abbott did the board, and Asa Knutson the wood.

PETER PINDER.

The fields will soon be in condition for the plow.

The friends and members of the Free Baptist Society, East Otisfield, have recently shingled their Church, and are homely.

Thomas Jackson is improving the looks of his house by putting in new windows and adding a new coat of paint.

Frank Frost moving to Norway, having bought his brother's stand at Gorham.

Moses Spiller has six heifers all three years old and each having a calf by her side. They are of the Jersey and Holstein stock, and are a very promising lot.

Henry Bowker has sold his yearling Hambleton colt, to George H. Jones, of Oxford.

ABOUT EVERY OTHER person in our neighborhood has received his share of "bad cold." We meet our most intimate friends after dark and we speak to us, we pass on wondering what strange thing it is with a cold, who knows what we cannot recollect of ever hearing that voice before.

J. Bartlett's running his mill night and day saving him and oak.

Earnest Bartlett, who is present attending Bowdoin College was home a few days since on a short visit.

WATERFORD.

C. E. Jackson has gone to Andover to work on a farm. We shall miss the "Doctor" very much.

W. Bowker is stopping at the Milton Hotel, much improved, but still weak.

Walter Mann's horse got kicked in the side, cutting quite a gash. D. E. Coffin, proprietor of the Milton Hotel, dressed the wound. Mr. C. is the only thing useful, ever ready to help those in trouble. Mrs. C. has been an invalid for some time, but is improving very much of late.

Mrs. G. Webster has been suffering from rheumatism, but is better.

Circles met at Mrs. Parker's. The Bean family have broken up housekeeping and have rented their house to Lewis Mann, of the firm of L. M. & W. E. Mann.

18th.—The school house question was again discussed this evening, and have decided to raise $800 by taxation for a new building to be erected on the old site. Building committee, P. Coffin, 1st; Will Blake, 2d; J. C. Swett, 3d.

WATERFORD.

Mr. Leslie McKenney has rented the Hill farm from Mr. Munroe.

Mrs. Eastman is taking down the Brown stand, as they were cracked in many places large enough to let the rain in. A great work.

There have been six deaths of old people ranging from 75 to 87 years of age within 16 months in the little village of Waterford.

EDENFALLS.

Mumps are prevailing here. Deacon Robinson has been quite sick with them, but is improving.

James Rand has moved to Mechanic Falls and Willis Chapin has moved into his house.

Mrs. Rose Barnes has moved into the room formerly occupied by Mr. Morse.

Robert Eades is having a house built at the mouth of the Bangs River. David Chapin, John Robinson and Chas. Floyd are doing the work.

Eugene Tenney is having his house thoroughly repaired, which will make an improvement in that part of the village.

Walter Corliss has gone to West Point, where he will soon begin the practice of medicine.

Mrs. Gertrude Frye and daughter are spending a few weeks with her parents.

While Green has gone to Portland, where he has a very pleasant situation. The roads about here are dry and dusty.

SOUTH MILAN.

Geo. Milliken is running his mill night and day in order to fill his orders for lumber.

C. O. Elliott of Kezar Falls has sold half of the saw mill to the Kezar Falls Woolen Mill Co.

L. O. Lombard sold a great horned owl a few days ago which measured five feet nine inches across the wings and eight inches from end of toes to end of tail. It has been sent to Fryeburg by the U. S. Fish Commission.

Chas. of Kezar Falls. It is a very choice specimen.

They will resume the publication of the Oxford County Record this week. The paper is very much wanted and shall be glad to get it again.

Geo. W. Towle has bought the co-operative store at Kezar Falls, and is moving there.

Tobias Stanley is at home from London, on a visit with his bride. L.

NORTH WATERFORD.

People are preparing for spring work. There has been but little maple syrup made in this vicinity this year, but some have made a little.

G. Barrett has started his mill again in the dove business.

Mason & Turner are taking quite an amount of bleached apples, putting them up in fifty pound cans, ready for market.

Mrs. James Dickel is quite feeble.

Mrs. Harry Keen has sold her stand to Mr. Emery.

The friends who bought the old cow-ding house, which is the last building of any account on the old cow-ding lot. He contemplates making a new house out of it and going into the poultry business. By the way, his business is booming, especially setting hens, and there is a great demand for them, and no signs of an over-supply.

P. BERT.

Benjamin Foster's little girl, aged two years and nine months, died very suddenly the 14th inst. of cholera. The child was taken to the hospital, and another child in the family is dangerously sick with the same disease. The doctor is attending to the case, and it is dangerous until then, not considered for it. When the doctor arrived the child was dead. Within Curtis' children, Gail and Baby are sick with the same disease.

Wash. Irish is improving from a bilious fever, after being sick three or four weeks.

Pigs are plenty at $2.50.

East Peru has one great thing to comfort it, and that is good running water. There are within 13 miles of this place on the river, 29 houses. Out of this number first class water runs by in aqueduct into twenty of them. One out of that number is not running but was frozen up, owing to the very cold weather. Beat this for a country place!

Rufus Griffith has bought a yoke of cattle to replace those he sold a short time since. Girth 6 feet 7 and 8 inches. Price $187.

Our stage has taken to wheels lately. The river is not crossing by foot, and the ice is beginning to break up in spots.

The birds business will probably be a little better this week, and all generally. The river is not crossing by foot, and the ice is beginning to break up in spots.

Also Mrs. Jack Griffith is very sick; ten of Rufus Griffith's sheep have 15 lambs. Five had twins—one pair of black ones.

CAVANO.

The little year old daughter of widow Charles F. Coburn, and only grandchild of Mr. L. O. Coburn, died last week. The Old Fellows (of whom we have heard so much) were warmly buried the funeral expenses of the child.

Union services at the brick Church.

The Reform Meeting will be held next Sunday evening at the Baptist Church.

The boys are making cans at the mill.

Dr. C. E. Swasey, Dentist, is in town.

J. M. Johnson has put in a stock of groceries in addition to his meat business. We now have ten stores in town where groceries are kept.

J. M. Marble and H. J. DeShon are running on hardware. They are selling Clothes Winger's for $2.12. B.

EAST BROWNFIELD.

J. M. Adams has sold his pine timber (about 50,000 feet) to Mr. Gatchell of Baldwin, who will put it into the "Saco" as soon as the ice breaks up.

T. J. Allard's house caught fire early Sunday morning by a spark sparring from the cook stove, when the kitchen was unoccupied. Mr. A. is now in the barn, saw the fire through the window, rushed in and put it out before serious damage was done.

John Hawkins is saving the logs from a pine tree which he says will yield 18,000 feet of boards. The tree grew on L. O. Wentworth's land, and was cut down by a miller in town last week.

It is rumored that S. A. Chapman of the bridge will have a new town agency to sell in all its forms.

It is thought by some that S. D. Philbrook and Fred Clark ought to be put under bonds to keep the peace, as they do not seem to be getting on as far as words are concerned. It is hoped that Fred will not hurt Sammy.

Coburn the shoemaker is to build his new shop on the corner of the new building. He has been hauled on to the spot. Ten-man Crosby does the work.

The mud in our streets is drying up, and they are quite passable.

The fifth entertainment in the Academy of Music, which was given last evening—a recital by Miss Roach, teacher of elocution in the Academy. The entertainment was the best ever given in the school history. Miss Roach has been at the Academy for some time, and her efforts here. The program was excellent and finely given. Among the things, Miss Roach gave Naby's "Hannah," June's, "How Perseus saved the child of the Baby," "Fourth of July at Jonesville," and one or two Irish selections. Her delivery and her voice in the diaphragm—her mastery of the negro and Irish peculiarities of language being perfect. The "Fourth of July" was a grand success. The class of orators who flourish in some communities. Many thought her finest numbers were the two from Shakespeare's "Macbeth," and the "Sleep-walking scene." In these, which demand the highest dramatic talent, she was excellent. The "Macbeth" was the best of the kind in our best theatres. For the time she was the Scottish Queen, and her audience forgot that she was a girl, and that she was a native of the Academy, and Mr. H. W. Johnson, who played selections of a very high order, and Miss Howe in particular displayed fine technique in execution. Mr. Johnson played selections from the "Macbeth" and the "Sleep-walking scene" by Temmerman. His interpretation of the Beethoven number showed a thorough understanding of the composition. feet of my chair. So I gave a furious name, but everything else I told me was true.

All the while I was speaking I heard a distressing sound at the other end of the room. It drove me nearly mad. I believe could I have made sure of reaching through my darkness and catching those men by the throat, with the certainty of crushing life out of him. I could have done so, even had such an opportunity revealed my own fate.

was that I had destroyed myself started in search of me, and at once recognizing the impossibility of finding me without assistance, turned to that first and last resource of an English woman in such a difficulty—the Police. Having heard her tale at the nearest station, and after entreaties, and by enlarging on her infirmity, made known the urgency of the case, and secured sympathy, telegraphic messages were sent to other stations asking if anyone answered the description.

... was of "the Italian band," and some other Christian soldiers returning to Rome may have founded the church there. The church at Antioch must have been a good sized one when Paul arrived in the city; but there were, perhaps, sixty thousand non-Christian residents in the city, the apostle's work could be welcomed in preaching to these, saying nothing of the evangelization of the heathen population.
